“It has been a long road to get to this point of being able to begin the voting process for our proposed Business Combination,” said Kevin M. Rendino, Chief Executive Officer of 180 Degree Capital. “We appreciate the patience of our shareholders who, like us, respect the process through which the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) reviews and ultimately approves the filings required to begin the next steps toward approval of the Business Combination. We appreciate the SEC’s comments and feedback over these past months. We could not be more excited to begin the voting process as the initial indications of support communicated to us have been strong, and we are very optimistic about reaching the voting threshold required to approve and then close the Business Combination. We look forward with speaking to you.”

Mr. Goldthorpe added, “We share Kevin and Daniel’s optimism about the future of our combined companies. Mount Logan is at a pivotal moment for growth, driven by both organic and strategic opportunities. Our NASDAQ listing will enhance visibility, improve liquidity, and broaden our investor base—including you, the shareholders of 180 Degree Capital. Over the past several weeks, I’ve had the opportunity to speak directly with many of you—through one-on-one conversations, group calls, and investor outreach sessions. These discussions have been thoughtful and constructive, and I’ve been encouraged by the level of engagement, insightful questions, and long-term perspective many of you bring. I’m also heartened by the number of new shareholders who have built meaningful positions in 180 Degree Capital following the announcement of our proposed Business Combination. I look forward to continuing these conversations throughout the solicitation process and beyond, as we build value together as future shareholders of the combined company.”

“We are also looking forward to our shareholder call tomorrow where we will discuss our preliminary Q2 2025 results, as well as our proposed Business Combination,” added Daniel B. Wolfe, President of 180 Degree Capital. “In addition, we have historically said that press releases and communications from shareholders who seek to interfere with our proposed Business Combination contain a number of inaccuracies and distortions, and that we looked forward to addressing the points in due time. It is now that time. We look forward to speaking with all of you tomorrow, Tuesday, July 15, at 1pm ET, and throughout the voting process leading into the Business Combination Special Meeting.”
